

Economic Policy of Achieving National Competitive Advantage

Authors : Gulnaz Erkomaishvili, Eteri Kharaishvili, Marina Chavleishvili

Abstract : The paper discusses the economic policy of increasing national competitiveness, the tools, and means which help the country to improve its competitiveness. The sectors of the economy, in which the country can achieve a competitive advantage, are studied. It is noted that the country's economic policy plays an important role in obtaining and maintaining a competitive advantage - authority should take measures to ensure a high level of education; scientific and research activities should be funded by the state; foreign direct investments should be attracted mainly in science-intensive industries; adaptation with the latest scientific achievements of the modern world and deepening of scientific and technical cooperation. Stable business environment and export-oriented strategy is the basis for the country's economic growth. The studies have shown that institutional reforms in Georgia are not enough to significantly improve the country's competitiveness.
