

Gender Based Violence and Women's Health

Authors : Sangita Bharati

Abstract : Violence against women is now well recognised as a public health problem and human rights violation of worldwide significance. It is an important risk factor for women's ill health, with far reaching consequences for both their physical and mental health. Gender based violence takes many forms and results in physical, sexual and psychological harm to the women throughout their lives. Gender based violence often manifests unequal power relation between men and women in society and the secondary status of the women because of which women have to suffer a range of health problems in silence. This paper will aim at describing a few problems related to women's health which are directly linked to their experience as victims of gender based violence.

Keywords : violence, health, women, society

Conference Title : ICHHSS 2014 : International Conference on Humanities, Historical and Social Sciences

Conference Location : Cape Town, South Africa

Conference Dates : November 06-07, 2014