

Italian Colonial Strategy in Libya and the Conflict of Super Powers

Authors : Mohamed Basheer Abdul Atti Hassan

Abstract : This research paper will follow the main outlines of the Italian colonization in Libya in a historical geopolitical approach; before we reach the contemporary map. In this study, we are also concerned with following the chain's links, not as drama in time, but as a strategy in place, so that it draws to us a map of power and the distribution of political formations throughout this period within and around Libya. From the sum of these variable distributions and successive balances, we can come up with the basic principles that determined the Italian history in Libya and formed its political entity, which is a compass of guidance and an indication of the future.

Keywords : conflict, Mediterranean, colonization, political history

Conference Title : ICPHW 2020 : International Conference on Political History of the World

Conference Location : New York, United States

Conference Dates : October 08-09, 2020