

The Influence of Parenting Patterns on Adolescent Delinquency

Authors : Salsabila Rizka Pratama

Abstract : In this day and age, delinquency has become common to young children, and it is a violation of the norms, and legal systems of a society that are carried out during adolescence. It is the transition from childhood to adulthood. Perversion Youth from criminal law are a common problem among adolescents in homes, schools, and communities. Without proper treatment, delinquency can turn into a crime and is likely to send a child to prison. If dug deeper, the development of delinquency is strongly influenced by family and community life. Families play an important role in the prevention of delinquency. One way a family can help prevent delinquency is by using the proper upbringing. The upbringing that parents use affects children's behavior. Improper parenting can lead to delinquency. On the other hand, proper parenting will prevent delinquency. But delinquency is not influenced only by parental upbringing, the appearance of delinquency can be influenced by the environment, religion, economic factors, information technology factors.

Keywords : parenting, parents, juvenile delinquency, family, youth, crime, environment, religion, economy, information technology

Conference Title : ICOBM 2022 : International Conference on Organizational Behavior Management

Conference Location : Dubai, United Arab Emirates

Conference Dates : October 13-14, 2022