

The Feasibility of Economic Science in Islam With an Emphasis on Sadr's Vantage Point

Authors : Yahya Jahangiri, Ali Almasi

Abstract : Currently capitalism is one of the most important economic issues discussed by great scholars around the world. But Islamic approach, regarding this issue may differ both western and eastern views. A greatest scholar in Islamic economy 'especially in Shia' is Martyr Muhammad Baqir Al-Sadr. He wrote "Our economy" (Iqtisaduna) to present an economic point of view according to the Islamic teachings. In this regard firstly we will mention three approaches which are common in Muslim scullers about the economic science and then the main approach which is Sadr's view is described here. His claim explains that Islam and capitalism are in conflict with each other. And finally he explains the relationship between Islam and economy and he suggests the Islamic point of view in economy and its foundations as a solution for economic problems which we face today.
