The Relationship between Social Capital and Knowledge Sharing in the Ministry of Culture and Islamic Guidance (Iran)

Authors: Narges Sadat Myrmousavy, Maryam Eslampanah

Abstract: The aim of this study was to investigate the relationship between social capital and knowledge sharing in the Ministry of Culture and Islamic Guidance. They are descriptive correlation study. The study sample consisted of all the experts in the Ministry of Culture and Islamic Guidance helping professionals headquarters in Tehran in the summer period is 2012, the number is 650. Random sampling is targeted. The sample size is 400. The data collection tool was a questionnaire that was used for the preparation of a standard questionnaire. They also examine the assumptions of the regression coefficient for the relationship between variables in order to investigate the main hypothesis test is used. The findings suggest that the structural and knowledge-sharing between components, there is a direct relationship. The components of the relationship between Impression management and knowledge sharing, there is a direct relationship. There was no significant relationship between Individual pro-social motives and knowledge sharing. Both components of the cognitive aspects of open mindedness and competence are directly related with knowledge sharing. Finally, the comparison between the different dimensions of social capital, the largest of its structure, and its relationship with knowledge sharing is the least relation.

Keywords: social capital, knowledge sharing, ministry of culture and Islamic guidance (Iran), open mindedness, pro-social motives

Conference Title: ICCMTD 2014: International Conference on Communication, Media, Technology and Design
Conference Location: Venice, Italy
Conference Dates: November 13-14, 2014