Right Livelihood (Samma Arjiva) for Lay Disciple

Authors: Kyaw Myint

Abstract: Each and everyone seeking happiness. People are trying various kinds of ways to earn happiness. Noble eight fold path is the way to attain the highest peace and happiness which includes three parts Morality (Sila) Concentration (smadī), and Wisdom (Pyanna). According to the Buddha’s teaching to attain higher level of peace and happiness, one must walk on this path. In the Buddha’s teaching morality is basic for all of these three parts. The right Livelihood consider as morality to reach peace or earn happiness in this life and here after next life. It is a way of earn a living without breaking the precepts. The essence of the teaching is to practice metal purity through the material gaining. In this article attempts to study right way of livelihood laid down by the Buddha for lay disciple special reference to Vinijja suttha, Ardiya Sutta, Dighajanu Sutta and singalovoda sutta. This paper approach qualitative research based mainly on documentary analysis. The result of the study shows that right livelihood in Buddha’s teaching involves both abstaining from wrong livelihood and taking right livelihood with right view and right effort. Buddha guidance on right livelihood can consist both materially and spiritually for lay disciple.

Keywords: right livelihood, eight fold path, lay disciple, wrong livelihood

Conference Title: ICPB 2023: International Conference on Philosophy of Buddhism

Conference Location: Sydney, Australia

Conference Dates: January 30-31, 2023