

Peace Based Diplomacy, Peace Communication and Peace Lobbying in the Example of Turkey-France Relations

Authors : Bilgehan Gültekin, Tuba Gültekin

Abstract : The first stage to procure peace communication is to construct a mutual accordance, which can be defined as: To constitute reconciliation ground in order to open and constitute the right peace and dialogue areas. For example: In Turkey's EU entry process, in order to procure French public opinion, to constitute a communication frame is a must. For the constitution of this frame, the titles of discussion in which it will be moved and for which French public opinion will show its support must be determined. The most important title of this ground is Turkey's peace potential for Europe with its strategic position. For this reason, it's is so strategic for peace communication that Turkey's contributions for Europe and World should be opened up for discussion in public opinion in France and be introduced as a strong accordance ground. Peace based diplomacy, peace communication strategies and peace lobbying in the example of Turkey-France relations presents a strong peace titles.
