

National Projects' Impact on the Regional Division

Authors : Mosaad Hamouda, Kamal Khalaf, Zaker Mousa

Abstract : National projects are considered Egypt's future vision in investing its various resources and the best way to bring about a developmental renaissance that constitutes a quantum leap because of its developmental impact on the planning regions, which it achieves in attracting and localizing investments to achieve urban development, and what this has a noticeable impact on dividing those regions in order to achieve a developmental balance or at least reduce the severity of the disparities between them, by measuring the impact of these projects, which appear in the per capita share of the various developmental variables, and also analyzing global and local experiences so that a balanced division of the country's regions can be reached, and the research finds a set of planning foundations that are compatible with the settlement of these national projects in the future.

Keywords : national projects, regional development, division of regions, development disparities

Conference Title : ICASDVU 2023 : International Conference on Advanced Structure Design and Vertical Urbanization

Conference Location : Dubai, United Arab Emirates

Conference Dates : November 13-14, 2023