

The Quality of Health Services and Patient Satisfaction in Hospital

Authors : Malki Nadia Fatima Zahra, Kellal Chaimaa, Brahim Houria

Abstract : Quality is one of the most important modern management patterns that organizations seek to achieve in all areas and sectors in order to meet the needs and desires of customers and to remain continuity, as they constitute a competitive advantage for the organization, and among the most prominent organizations that must be available on the quality factor are health organizations as they relate to the most valuable component of production It is a person and his health, and that any error in it threatens his life and may lead to death, so she must provide health services of high quality to achieve the highest degree of satisfaction for the patient. This research aims to study the quality of health services and the extent of their impact on patient satisfaction, and this is through an applied study that relied on measuring the level of quality of health services in the university hospital center of Algeria and the extent of their impact on patient satisfaction according to the dimensions of the quality of health services, and we reached a conclusion that the determinants of the quality of health services. It affects patient satisfaction, which necessitates developing health services according to patients' requirements and improving their quality to obtain patient satisfaction.

Keywords : health service, health quality, quality determinants, patient satisfaction

Conference Title : ICHTM 2024 : International Conference on Hospitality and Travel Marketing

Conference Location : Rome, Italy

Conference Dates : February 19-20, 2024