

Early Childhood Education: Working With Children, Families, and Communities for Collective Impact

Authors : Sunico Armie Flores

Abstract : Early childhood education (ECE) is pivotal in shaping the future of individuals and society. This paper explores the collaborative efforts required among educators, families, and communities to create a collective impact on young children's development. It delves into the importance of these partnerships, effective strategies for engagement, and the challenges and opportunities inherent in fostering such collaboration. By examining current research and practices, the paper aims to highlight the essential role of an integrated approach in achieving significant and sustainable improvements in early childhood outcomes.

Keywords : early childhood education, collaborative efforts, family engagement, community partnerships, child development, educational outcomes, integrated approach, stakeholder collaboration, resource constraints

Conference Title : ICECEC 2025 : International Conference on Early Childhood Education and Care

Conference Location : Vancouver, Canada

Conference Dates : May 20-21, 2025