

In the Face of Brokenness: Finding Meaning and Purpose in a Shattered World

Authors : Le Khanh Huyen

Abstract : This dissertation focuses on the psychological study of children, particularly those who lack parental affection or face family pressures. It will analyze the severe consequences of insufficient parental love and familial pressure on children's psychology, including emotional and behavioral disorders, learning difficulties in academics and daily life, loss of faith, and low self-esteem. Additionally, this dissertation will propose solutions to support children in challenging circumstances, contributing to the protection of children's mental health.

Keywords : child psychology, lack of parental love, family pressure, emotional and behavioral disorders, learning difficulties, loss of faith, self-esteem, mental health

Conference Title : ICPP 2025 : International Conference on Psychiatry and Psychology

Conference Location : Singapore, Singapore

Conference Dates : May 03-04, 2025