

Typologies Of Democratic Innovation Proposals - A Critical Literature Review

Authors : Kristof Lukas Heidemann

Abstract : In response to the present-day worldwide regression in the prevalence and vitality of contemporary democratic systems proponents of democracy have made several proposals to reverse this global trajectory through constitutional law reforms, creating the democratic innovations discourse. This critical review analyzes the different typologies that have been put forward to systematize the suggested democratic innovations and argues that the typologies all either omit some existing proposals or include overlapping types. Therefore, the review endorses possible adaptations regarding the more comprehensive typologies and gives recommendations for further research.

Keywords : citizen participation, constitutional law, deliberative democracy, democracy, democratic innovations, law and legislation, law reform, literature review

Conference Title : ICLPS 2025 : International Conference on Law and Political Science

Conference Location : Vancouver, Canada

Conference Dates : August 05-06, 2025