

Faculty and Students Perspectives of E-Learning at the University of Bahrain

Authors : Amira Abdulrazzaq

Abstract : This paper is studying the opinion of faculty members and students about the future of education (e-learning) at the University of Bahrain. Through quantitative analysis a distribution of two surveys, one targeting students of IT College, and College of Arts and the other targeting Faculty members of both Colleges. Through the above survey, the paper measures the following factors: awareness and acceptance, satisfaction, usability, and usefulness. Results indicate positive reactions of all above factors.

Keywords : e-learning, education, moodle, WebCT

Conference Title : ICEP 2015 : International Conference on Education and Pedagogy

Conference Location : Venice, Italy

Conference Dates : April 13-14, 2015