

Values Education in Military Schools and Işıklar Air Force High School Sample

Authors : Mehmet Eren Çelik

Abstract : Values are notions that help people to decide what is good or not and to direct their attitude. Teaching values has always been very important throughout the history. Values should be thought in younger ages to get more efficiency. Therefore military schools are the last stop to learn values effectively. That's why values education in military schools has vital importance. In this study the military side of values education is examined. The purpose of the study is to show how important values education is and why military students need values education. First of all what value is and what values education means is clearly explained and values education in schools and specifically in military schools is stated. Then values education in Işıklar Air Force High School exemplifies the given information.

Keywords : Işıklar Air Force High School, military school, values, values education

Conference Title : ICSEUS 2015 : International Conference on Society, Economics and Urban Studies

Conference Location : Barcelona, Spain

Conference Dates : August 17-18, 2015