

Influence of Omani Literature in Foreign Language Classrooms on Students' Motivation in Learning English

Authors : Ibtisam Mohammed Salim Al Quraini

Abstract : This paper examines how introducing Omani literature in foreign language classrooms can influence the students' motivation in learning the language. The data was collected through the questionnaire which was administered to two samples (A and B) of the participants. Sample A was comprised of 30 female students from English department who are specialist in English literature in college of Arts and Social Science. Sample B in contrast was comprised of 10 female students who their major is English from college of Education. Results show that each genre in literature has different influence on the students' motivation in learning the language which proves that literacy texts are powerful. Generally, Omani English teachers tend to avoid teaching literature because they think that it is a difficult method to use in teaching field. However, the advantages and the influences of teaching poetries, short stories, and plays are discussed. Recommendations for current research and further research are also discussed at the end.

Keywords : education, plays, short stories, poems

Conference Title : ICEEPS 2015 : International Conference on Education, Psychology, Economics and Society

Conference Location : Amsterdam, Netherlands

Conference Dates : May 14-15, 2015