

Financial and Human Resources of Terrorism

Authors : Abdurrahman Karacabey

Abstract : Threat paradigm has shifted throughout the history. Considering conjuncture of our time, a major threat for humanity is terrorism. Although variety of reasons are influential, financial, and human resources are the vital needs for terrorist groups. It is known that terrorism is a significant term while taking decisions in diplomatic, politic, and military issues. Even though the methods to provide resources for terrorism are quite similar, there are still some differences for deterrent terrorist groups being active in various regions of the globe. Due to social and psychological reasons activists have generally similar excuses to join terrorist groups. At the same time, terrorists' fiscal activities to secure permanence of terrorism, occupy the politics of the countries. Besides, preventive actions are expensive creating huge burdens in host nation's economy. This paper elaborates on how ISIS is providing human and economic resources, course of actions to overcome ISIS is on the agenda of all countries.

Keywords : financial resources, human resources, isis, terrorism

Conference Title : ICSEUS 2015 : International Conference on Society, Economics and Urban Studies

Conference Location : Barcelona, Spain

Conference Dates : August 17-18, 2015