

Education Function of Botanical Gardens

Authors : Ruhgöl Özge Ocak, Banu Öztürk Kurtaslan

Abstract : Botanical gardens are very significant organizations which protect the environment against the increasing environmental problems, provide environmental education for people, offer recreation possibilities, etc. This article describes botanical gardens and their functions. The most important function of a botanical garden is to provide environmental education for people and improve environmental awareness. Considering this function, some botanical gardens were examined and opinions were suggested about the subject.

Keywords : botanical garden, environment, environmental education, recreation

Conference Title : ICEBS 2015 : International Conference on Education and Behavioral Sciences

Conference Location : Paris, France

Conference Dates : June 25-26, 2015