

Organizational Performance and Impact of Social Innovation

Authors : Alfonso Unceta, Javier Castro-Spila

Abstract : This paper offers a conceptual and empirical exploration between the organizational performance and the impact of social innovation. The paper contributes on the social innovation field in three domains: a) It provides analytical and empirical evidence linking organizational performance to the impact of social innovation; b) it provides a first outline of impact assessment of social innovation when it is developed by a diversity of heterogeneous actors (systemic social innovation); c) it provides a first outline for the development of innovation policies to support social innovations according to a typology of organizations and a typology of impact.

Keywords : absorptive capacity, social innovation impact, organizational performance, RESINDEX, Basque Country

Conference Title : ICSSSI 2015 : International Conference on Service Systems and Social Innovation

Conference Location : Madrid, Spain

Conference Dates : November 12-13, 2015