

The Challenge Confronted by the Developing Countries in Sustainable Urban Development

Authors : Sherine El Sakka

Abstract : Sustainable urban development (SUD) is influenced by social, cultural, economic and environmental sustainability (ES) of developing and developed countries. Our paper will focus on the challenge confronted by the developing countries in sustainable urban development as an application on Egypt, which will clarify current situation and future challenge and assess the impact of a developing country on sustainable development to propose some possible directions for the future because new solution of improving sustainability of developing cities (SDC) should be found.

Keywords : sustainable urban development (SUD), environmental sustainability (ES), sustainability of developing cities (SDC), Egypt

Conference Title : ICBEE 2014 : International Conference on Biological and Ecological Engineering

Conference Location : Venice, Italy

Conference Dates : August 14-15, 2014