

The Effects of Corporate Governance on Firm's Financial Performance: A Study of Family and Non-family Owned Firms in Pakistan

Authors : Saad Bin Nasir

Abstract : This research will examine the impact of corporate governance on firm performance in family and non-family owned firms in Pakistan. For the purpose of this research, corporate governance mechanisms which included are board size, board composition, leadership structure, board meetings are taken as independent variable and firm performance taken as dependent variable and it will be measured with return on asset and return on equity. Firm size and firm's age will be taken as control variables. Secondary data will collect from audited annual reports of companies and panel data regression model will applied, to check the impact of corporate governance on firm performance.

Keywords : board size, board composition, Leadership Structure, board meetings, firm performance, family and non-family owned firms

Conference Title : ICEBM 2016 : International Conference on Economics and Business Management

Conference Location : London, United Kingdom

Conference Dates : March 17-18, 2016