

Comparison of Women's Political Participation in Korea and China

Authors : Minjeoung Kim

Abstract : This paper deals with the comparison of women's political participation in Korea and China. Korean women are participated more in higher education. As the economic development and the women's social participation can enhance the possibility of women's political participation in advanced democratic countries, in Asian countries such as Korea and China in which Confucianism prohibited women to participate in public life and the process of nation building is different from western countries, the political power takes an initiative to implement policies for women's participation in politics and for women's consciousness.

Keywords : korea, china, women, political participation

Conference Title : ICPSIR 2016 : International Conference on Political Science and International Relations

Conference Location : Prague, Czechia

Conference Dates : July 07-08, 2016