

The Quality Assurance on the Standard of Private Schools in Bangkok

Authors : Autjira Songjan, Poramatdha Chutimant

Abstract : This research is intended to study the operational quality assurance of private schools in Bangkok according to the opinions of administrators and teachers. Second is comparing the opinions of administrators and teachers about operating quality assurance process by gender, job and work experience. The sample include administrators and teachers of private schools in the Education School in Bangkok by using a proportion random technic. The questionnaire are used as query operations quality assurance to collect the data of private schools, the statistics that are used to analyze the data using the percentage, mean, standard deviation and Test the difference value and test of variance. The research found that the administrators and teachers have different sex, positions and duties have the different opinions about quality assurance in different statistically insignificant level 0.05 in the elements of performance management and the quality of the service that provided to students in the school.

Keywords : educational quality assurance, performance management, private schools in Bangkok, quality of the service

Conference Title : ICEABM 2016 : International Conference on Economics, Accounting and Business Management

Conference Location : Amsterdam, Netherlands

Conference Dates : December 01-02, 2016