

Interdisciplinary Expressive Artistic Activities within Prevention of Crisis Situations and Pathological Strains in Educational Facilities of Juvenile Detention Centres

Authors : Marie Bajnarová

Abstract : The core part of the research project is represented by taking a perspective on the role of an educator in Juvenile Institutional Centres. In accordance with the research questions, the research explores impact of the environment, situations, practices, attitudes, values and also experience of the respondents. Art activities minimize risky behaviours and contribute to a healthy lifestyle. They also help children and adolescents with conduct disorders develop positive social behaviour, psychosocial skills and cope with difficult life situations.

Keywords : Juvenile Detention Centres, drawing, conduct disorders, art therapy

Conference Title : ICEPHSS 2017 : International Conference on Education, Psychology, Humanities and Social Sciences

Conference Location : Bangkok, Thailand

Conference Dates : November 29-30, 2017