

Influence of Principal's Professionalism on Overall Development of the Institution

Authors : Hamesh Babu Nanvala, Madhuri Malhal Rao

Abstract : The overall development of the Institution is dependent on the approach and attitude of the principal. Influence of principal's professionalism on overall development of the Institution is the aim of this paper. Professionalism means conducting oneself with responsibility, integrity, accountability and excellence. The predominant characteristic of professionalism is the temperament of oneself to work in the public interest. By summarizing the observations based on authors' experience regarding professionalism of principals towards the development of their respective institutions and correlating these observations with the findings in the literature and opinion of other principals and staff, the authors conceived a conceptual approach with its attributes by practicing suggested approach principals that can achieve overall development of their institutions.
